The golden jubilee batch of Maulana Azad Medical College (MAMC) recently felicited their teachers in the capital. Students and teachers got nostalgic as they recalled the times they spent at MAMC. Dr S Padmawati, who had taught the batch, told us, "It is very humbling to know that the students still remember us." Dr Anil Chaturvedi, who was the host for the evening, told us, "It's been 50 years since we all entered MAMC in 1963, so we wanted to give something back to our teachers."

There were many ex-students who had specially come to Delhi to attend the reunion. Two such students were the Singhs, who also held the position for being the first couple from the batch to get married. "I saw my beloved wife for the first time in 1964. She was supposed to give a talk and she started coughing. It was then that I noticed her," Thakur Niranjan Singh recalled. His wife Promila said, "I was a shy person and giving a talk in front of so many people was scary. We went for many dates in CP, and got married a few years later."
