“ The number of companies participating in our placement drive increases each year. This year, we are expecting more than 30 companies from different fields, as compared to 27 last year,” said J M Khurana , Dean Students' Welfare .

“ Companies like HCL Technologies, Genpact and Wipro come regularly. We also see a lot of companies from the hospitality industry,” Khurana added, saying the companies are usually on the lookout for students with good communication skills.

The package offered to students varies from company to company, but usually hovers in the Rs 2 lakh to Rs 4 lakh bracket, Khurana said.

To equip aspirants for the placement season, the university is also planning “Capacity Building” sessions for First and Second-year students.

The special sessions help students formulate their resume according to the industry's needs, besides teaching them techniques to sail through interviews. Experts are called to hold workshops for these students.

“ We hold workshops on resume-writing and communication abilities so that students can learn from professionals,” said Khurana.
